Montreal, CANADA, June 3, 2003 – Biorthex Inc. announces today that regarding the dispute involving Imago SA and Eric Weynant, and Biorthex Inc., the “Cour de Cassation” of France has ruled in favour of Biorthex on April 1st, 2003 and rejected the allegations of Imago SA pertaining to an error published in Biorthex’s press release of October 26, 2001. The Court has sentenced Imago SA and Mr. Weynant to pay a total amount of 1,800 euros.

With this ruling, the Court has rejected the appeal lodged by Mr. Weynant and Imago SA against the court order rendered on December 21, 2001 by the Paris Court of Appeal, which confirmed another court order dated October 31, 2001 rendered by the “Président du Tribunal de Grande Instance de Paris”, in which terms the Judge had rejected the claims of Imago SA and Mr. Weynant. In addition to that ruling, the Court declared the claim against Biorthex unacceptable on the basis that the company was in compulsory liquidation, and therefore could only act through its receiver.

President and CEO of Biorthex, Mr. Benoit Sicotte declared “This new ruling rendered by the “Cour de Cassation” thus confirms that Imago SA is in definite compulsory liquidation and can only act through its receiver. Biorthex has won each and every case put forward in this dispute and will keep on defending its intellectual property rights.”

Biorthex inc. is a medical device company that designs, develops and markets innovative products for the surgical treatment of spinal disorders.

Any interested party can obtain from Biorthex copy of the judgment.
